

Sunday afternoon

Dec 6 - 1913

My dear Son:-

We were all made glad by a letter from you yesterday and to know some(?) of your doings.

It cleared off yesterday and today is the first clear day we have had since Cousin Daisy smut back to St L. The wind came up last night and blew hard. It is quite a bit colder today. We think you will need your overcoat today.

All right! Bring your 2000 pairs of "Lily" socks home, maybe I can mend them. My hand is still in such work:

Today the new Presbyterian Church was dedicated with especial music and singing.

Mrs Sanders invited us to take dinner with them but the roads are terribly rough,
 the wind is high and then your grandmother is here - consequently we did not go - I am sure I am away in the back of her books - The Burk-hatters went. Archie on horseback Elsie and Lola were invited by Nellie and Ruby May to spend the night with them and attend the box supper given by the Juniors. There were a good many of the girls took boxes. Emma Schmidt's box brought $5.<sup>50</sup>!
 What do you think of that?...
 Joseph went up too - bought Othelia's box and then sold it to Bob.

3.

The girls went to S. S. and church too and Herbert went in for them this afternoon and brought them back... The wind is still high and I hope we will have clear weather for awhile.

Chas. Fry lost that fine snare he bought from Mr. Wittenburg. It died yesterday. Papa heard it had lung-fever..

Elsie says you can get her a good one and get Lola a ten-cent one if you want for she thinks Lola has not asked Paul to bring them one of his.

I must close now

Love to you from all of your Home Folk and Mother.
